

Diabetes Knowledge

I'm learning more and more about diabetes and my parents helped me a lot especially when I was first diagnosed.

They manage it really well in case my blood sugar goes too high and too low.

I know that insulin helps move glucose from the blood into the cells and it can lower my blood glucose level after I've had a meal.

