

Goals of Diabetes

Future Health

Managing glucose levels is really important and keeping them in target range helps protect against future health problems.

I'm aiming for a HbA1c of 48mmol/mol or less, which isn't easy, but it protects against future problems.

Every year I have a blood check, which monitors the effects of having diabetes.

