Diabetes Knowledge

Hi, I'm Eleanor. I have type one diabetes and I like to ice skate and draw and play music.

The pancreas is a vital organ. It helps move glucose from the bloodstream into the cells.

It helps with growth and muscle strength. It makes hormones like insulin and glucagon, which regulate blood glucose levels.

Pancreas

The pancreas is located in the upper abdomen behind the stomach.

Feeling overwhelmed by diabetes tests is very common, and you can always ask your diabetes team for advice.
